

Immigration-Related Dissertations, 1997

As part of its mission to examine and critique American immigration policy, the Center for Immigration Studies serves as a resource for policymakers, journalists, academics, and others looking for the latest immigration research and news. Through its e-mail news service (CISNEWS), papers, books, and this monthly Backgrounder series, the Center strives to provide in-depth coverage of this complicated issue. The very vastness of the topic, however, means that those involved in one facet of the issue can't keep up with developments elsewhere. In order to make the task less daunting, the Center has compiled a list of doctoral dissertations from 1997 exploring some aspect of immigration. A list of 1998 dissertations will be forthcoming later this year.

For ease of use, the list is organized into categories: Policy, Economy/Demography, Acculturation/Ethnicity, Language, Education/Schools, Health, Women's Issues, The Elderly, Religion, History, and Non-U.S. Immigration. However, the categories are necessarily subjective: The dissertation entitled "Immigrant Women's Lives: Weaving Garment Work and Legislative Policy" could as easily have been listed under Policy as under Women's Issues. Those interested in a particular topic would therefore be well-advised to peruse the entire list.

Support the Center

The Center for Immigration Studies depends on your support to continue this Backgrounder series, studies, and papers as well as the CISNEWS e-mail service and public outreach. More and more individuals are choosing planned gifts as a way to help sustain charitable programs and also reduce their tax burden. To find out more about planned giving, contact the Center's Development Director at (202) 466-8185 or through e-mail at center@cis.org

Subscriptions to this Backgrounder series are available for $35 per year (12 monthly issues). A complete list of the Center's other publications is available at www.cis.org

Immigration-Related Dissertations

As part of its mission to provide in-depth coverage of the many facets of immigration, the Center for Immigration Studies has compiled a list of doctoral dissertations from 1997. Each explores some aspect of immigration and, for ease of use, they have been organized into categories:

- Policy
- Economy/Demography
- Acculturation/Ethnicity
- Language
- Education/Schools
- Health
- Women's Issues
- The Elderly
- Religion
- History
- Non-U.S. Immigration
